Maeshowe: Midwinter

Equinox to Hallowmas, darkness falls like the leaves. The tree of the sun is stark.

On the loom of winter, shadows gather in a web; then the shuttle of St Lucy makes a pause; a dark weave fills the loom.

The blackness is solid as a stone that locks a tomb.
No star shines there.

Then begins the true ceremony of the sun, when the one last fleeting solstice flame is caught up by a midnight candle.

Children sing under a street lamp, their voices like leaves of light.

George Mackay Brown

Winter 2024

Brighton, Hove and beyond

Weekends: 30 November to 15 December

Artists Open Houses

The Winter Artists Open Houses are here again this festive season, with over 50 houses to explore right across Brighton & Hove and beyond. For three weekends, the whole city and beyond will be coming alive with arts, crafts and seasonal gifts, displayed in a vast array of artists' and makers' own homes and studios.

The focus of the Winter festival is Christmas, with venues selling a range of artworks and handmade crafts as unique gifts. Many houses also offer a glass of something mulled, as well as the opportunity to meet the makers – all in all, a perfect outing for a winter weekend.

This winter, you can also discover a 24-hour live performance (in a location to be revealed!); visit a wood cabin at sunset to view an illuminated audio-visual installation, inspired by the underwater world; see daring creatives and visionary street artists channelling the chaotic pulse of the city; and view work exploring ideas on consumption and plastic waste.

Visit the Open Houses to discover new ideas, arts and crafts from Sussex creatives, meet members of the local arts community and support a fantastic range of artists and makers across the city and beyond.

Simply look at the map on pages 14 -15 in this guide or online and plan your route for a great day out exploring all areas of the city, from West Hove to Rottingdean and beyond. Houses are also listed online, so you can choose an area of the city and region to explore by simply looking for your favourites @ <https://aoh.org.uk/> or follow us on social media.

Spellbound: Claire O'Hea

My thoughts follow a pair of flying doves frozen above the moon bridge. I am far away from the crowds, it feels different here as though I have landed in a new place. The Blue Moon is slow to appear. I almost give up hope of seeing it at all. Suddenly, against a very dark sky I notice a halo of pale gold beginning to show itself from behind the cliff's edge becoming brighter and brighter. I gasp. The moon isn't blue at all. The full moon owns the night sky, my inner voice is finally silenced.

27 Brighton Art Space CIC

27 Regent St, Brighton, BN1 1UL

Brighton Art Space CIC (BAS) is Brighton's newest art community. Occupying a historic building in the heart of the North Laines, it has studio spaces for 14 artists, a street level gallery, workshop, and event space. A working artistic hub, BAS provides the space and means for artists to grow and thrive.

Passionate and talented, every BAS artist is a valued member. Community is at the heart of everything here. From graduate students to internationally renowned artists, this is a space that encourages, supports, and champions its members and friends.

We are proud to be a CIC, which means that we are a non-profit, community-interest company that has real-world, applicable, actionable values and ethics. BAS is coming onto the scene with a fresh perspective, that's also quite simple – support our members however possible and exhibit a wide range of art in different mediums, from a diversity of artists, with different points of view.

Water Bubbles Tanzanite and Diamond Ring: Pruden and Smith

Designing luxury and bespoke jewellery since 1988, Pruden and Smith blend a history of goldsmithing with nature-inspired designs. Their Gallery is located at the crossroads of the Arts and Crafts Village of Ditchling. Expect rugged textures, unique patterns, and graceful curves - all handmade in their onsite workshop.

Pruden and Smith's Water Bubbles Collection is inspired by water and its natural flowing beauty. Elegant contemporary designs showcase grouped settings of diamonds and precious gemstones clustered like bubbles. This collection is perfect for customisation, whether you want to tell a particular story or simply have a preferred colour palette, they can incorporate your favourite precious gemstones.
